Phytopharmacy/herbal medicine in Eastern Switzerland

Eastern Switzerland is considered an important agricultural region with a strong tradition in herbal medicine. Today, numerous modern and innovative companies in the fields of phytopharmacy, cosmetics and nutritional supplements are located here. Their products are appreciated throughout Switzerland for their high quality, and some of the companies are active worldwide. Often, the majority of the added value is created in the region. These companies owe their success not least to the excellent location of Eastern Switzerland. Research projects are easy to realise thanks to the established cooperations with excellent universities, technical colleges and clinics. The availability of qualified specialists for research, development and production activities is also high in the region.
